Captain Tom Moore: WW2 veteran who raised millions for the NHS

A 99-year-old Second World War veteran has raised more than £17m for the NHS by walking 100 laps of his garden using a Zimmer frame.

Captain Tom Moore, who turns 100 on April 30, wanted to complete the challenge at his home in Bedfordshire before his birthday to support medics on the frontline the coronavirus crisis, who he says are "national heroes". The former tank commander had set a target of £1,000, which he reached in just 24 hours, but went on to raise an astonishing figure for the NHS Charities Together organisation.

He has received multiple messages of thanks from NHS workers, sports personalities and politicians.

The funds raised by Mr Moore will be spent on well-being packs for NHS staff and for kitting out rest and recuperation rooms.

It is expected electronic devices to enable hospital patients to keep in contact with loved ones will also be purchased, and some of the money will go towards working with community groups to support patients once they are discharged from hospitals.

Mr Moore's daughter, Hannah, who he has lived with for 12 years, said her father is a "typical Yorkshireman" who is "very stoic and controlled" and "takes everything in his stride".

She said he is an early riser and his morning routine would start with letting the dogs out of the house before settling down to read the newspaper.

Later in the day, he embarks on his regular 10 laps of the driveway and garden, an endeavour he started the weekend before Easter.

Captain Tom said he finds walking difficult but others "have it a lot worse".

"I can get about slowly [but] most people don't want me to run about too fast," he said. "I can manage and will continue to manage as long as I possibly can."

His daughter added: "We always knew that he was this incredible gem of a man, but we never had any idea that his story would capture the hearts of the nation.

"We thought we could give people a little bit of happiness and we wanted to share a little bit about him, and it has just gone beyond even our wildest, wildest dreams."

Answer the following questions.

1. What was the original target Captain Tom planned to reach?

2. Write one thing the money raised is planned to be spent on.

3. True or false Captain Tom has lived with his son for 12 years.

4. How many laps did Captain Tom do of his garden?

5. Find the sentence 'Captain Tom said he finds walking difficult', what was his comment after this?

6. When does Captain Tom turn 100?
