Joe Wicks raises £80,000 for the NHS with PE YouTube videos

Joe Wicks announced last week that he would be donating all the advertising revenue from his PE with Joe YouTube videos to the National Health Service.

Joe Wicks announced this morning that he has raised a whopping $100,000 for the NHS through his PE with Joe YouTube videos.

The Body Coach announced last week that he would be donating all the proceeds from his videos to the NHS, after experiencing revenue 'unlike anything he had seen before'.

And during an appearance on Good Morning Britain today, he told Piers Morgan and Susanne Reid that the total sum was at $100,000 (around £80,900) - and that 'every penny will go to the NHS'.

His announcement comes after he posted an Instagram video last week captioned: "Words can't express how happy and proud I have felt every day this week as the nation's P.E. teacher. I've been overwhelmed with the response and the support it's had from everyone. As a result of so many people viewing the #PEWithJoe workouts on YouTube the advertising revenue generated has been unlike anything I've seen or experienced on my channel before.

Joe has taken the world by storm with his 30 minute virtual PE classes that he does live on his YouTube channel every weekday morning at 9AM - and yesterday's video has racked up over one and a half million views on YouTube.

Answer the following questions.

1. Joe Wicks has been quoted to raise $100,000 in the article. How much does that equate to in £.

2. What day time TV show did Joe Wicks appear on to announce he had made $100,000.

3. True or false. You can take part in a session with Joe Wicks at the weekends at 9am.

A crocodile to sharpen the pencils,
A canary to teach singing,
An adder to teach maths,
An octopus to make the ink,
An elephant to Hoover the floor,
An electric eel to make the computer work,
